

We invite you to sponsor the 12th annual all born (in)

Regional Cross-Disability Best Practices
Inclusive Education Conference
Over 30 sessions for birth thru adulthood
Portland Airport Holiday Inn
March 18, 2017

This All Born (in) conference prepares parents, educators, schools, and communities to successfully embrace diversity by sharing tools and inspiring the courage to reach and teach all people.

The annual, cross-disability conference is hosted by NWDSA/ABI with many regional partners such as local universities, county and state disabilities services providers, school districts, educational collaboratives, parent groups, businesses, and disability advocates. The conference is planned and executed by dedicated parents, professionals, and individuals experiencing disability.

The conference offers concrete skills to parents, educators, self advocates, providers, and civic leaders committed to challenging segregation and promoting inclusion of children and adults with disabilities. Topics are driven by best practices with input from participants, our professional advisory board, and our 2,000+ cross-disability families across Portland Metro/SW Washington.

We host three powerful keynotes and over 30 breakout sessions on Universal Design for Learning, special education law, assistive technology, early literacy, positive behavior support, employment, post-secondary education, policy and social justice, and more.

The conference addresses the needs of families and professionals, and promotes the wider community's competence on diversity, equity, and differentiation. PDUs are available through Concordia University. We offer Spanish and ASL interpretation throughout the day, present some sessions in Spanish, and host a soft room for participants with sensory needs.

NWDSA/ABI keeps conference fees accessible for families and educators. This would not be possible without the support of our community sponsors. Your sponsorship dollars help underwrite costs such as speaker fees, resources, conference facilities, promotional materials, breakfast and lunch for participants, scholarships for low-income families and self-advocates, and translation services. We invite you to join our growing sponsor circle to bring this incredible, one-of-a-kind resource to families, schools and professionals. Every dollar invested is complemented by volunteer hours and in-kind donations.

Together, we can erase the divide between "us" and "them" and celebrate schools and communities where all individuals are embraced and included.

The NWDSA's mission is to create and nurture a loving and inclusive community celebrating every person with a disability including Down syndrome. With our cross-disability sister project, All Born (In), we work to increase education, promote public understanding and acceptance, work toward full inclusion, and defend the civil rights of individuals with disabilities.

Regional Cross-Disability Best Practices Inclusive Education Conference
Portland Airport Holiday Inn • March 18, 2017

For eleven years, the All Born (in) conference has inspired parents and professionals with cutting-edge best practices in inclusive education, serving the community from birth through 21. NWDSA partners with Portland State University, Multnomah Educational Service District, and others to create a dynamic, informative day. The 2016 conference presented 35 sessions that provided tools, resources, and ideas to over 500 attendees: 50% parents and 50% professionals.

As a sponsor, your logo and information will be visible to families, parent groups, advocacy groups, providers, school districts, educators, universities, policy makers, and more. Our physical mailer reaches over 2,600 families and professionals. Our email newsletters reach nearly 2,000 individuals. Our Facebook updates reach 2,000+ followers.

Please contact us for deadlines for logo inclusion on conference promotional material.
